Nar-Anon Common Welfare Topic Suggestions

With Details

Communication

Communication, as discussed in Concept Eight.

Writing as a Nar-Anon recovery tool

Writing for the Serenity Connection, writing for a local newsletter, writing for Nar-Anon Priority List items not only helps the members but the fellowship as well. Journaling brings about spiritual awakenings.

Growth

Discuss ways to attract more members to our fellowship. Growing our fellowship with inclusivity. Attracting, Supporting, and Retaining Younger People in our Fellowship. Need for financial viability, printed literature, and increased member participation to continue growing our fellowship.

Motions

(No details provided.)

Access to conference approved literature CAL

1 - Problems: Long translation process for literatures (due to late receiving of files for translation and lack of specific time for formatting after sending the translation to WSO).

2 - All conference approved literature CAL should be available digitally worldwide.

Unity

Unity, through collective adherence to the program's principles and traditions and guided by the conscience of the group, can resolve challenges related to literature—including delays in publication and difficulty accessing approved literature. Regular rotation of service provides the foundation for recovery for all members. This unity begins at the group level and, through the selection of officers based on spiritual principles, extends to the area, region, other regions, and ultimately to World Service—a process that ensures stability and coordination throughout the entire service structure.

Healthy Meetings

What traits are indicative of a Healthy Meeting: telling 'war stories' vs talking about recovery; someone dominating the meeting vs everyone having an equal voice, etc. A healthy meeting fosters growth and recovery.

Free online participation in the conference

The accessibility and opportunity for each region to participate in shaping the fellowship's group conscience at the World Service Conference (WSC) put into practice key Program principles: Unity and Equality, and observing the Traditions and Concepts of Nar-Anon. The geopolitical situation does not allow paying the registration fee for many regions of Nar-Anon. This inclusive approach fosters genuine growth within the fellowship. Conducting the conference online eliminates expenses for visa processing, travel, accommodation, meals for participants, and printing of conference materials.

Consensus-based decision making

We assume that, according to the spiritual nature of our program and our traditions and concepts, it is the most appropriate way to make decisions. It is based on the spiritual principles of humility, goodwill, unity, respect, and acceptance.

Anonymity

How to maintain anonymity in all program functions: In person, online, on social media.

Growth in Service

THE BENEFITS OF SERVICE, THE NEED FOR MEMBERS IN SERVICE, AND HOW TO ATTRACT MORE MEMBERS TO IT

Our members need the world-wide fellowship to recover, the world-wide fellowship needs the members to exist, we are interdependent.

When we engage in activities that ensure the survival of the fellowship, we do not work for ourselves alone, but for those who will join in the future.

Confident in our higher power as expressed in a spiritual group conscience we gain strength to work together for a common goal.
